In regards the new proposals on RESTRUCTURING of the amateur licensing i very much agree with the elimination of the novice and technician plus license and just have the technician class no code as entry level into amateur radio.

I do believe in just having two code levels and reducing the 13 wpm for the general and advance class down to 10 wpm at 5 minutes and 1 minute of sold copy and increase the written element with more technical questions and also to have more diagrams to draw and have to explain what the various components do .

For the Extra class i am in favor of reducing the 20 wpm down to 15 wpm with 5 minutes of copy with 1 minute of sold copy and to eliminate all multiple choice questions .

I am a holder of a Extra class license and have been a VE examiner for the pass 8 years and i have seen how the proctors certification for people with so called disability has been abused and think that there should be something done about this.
