FCC INTERNATIONAL BUREAU NAMES NESE GUENDELSBERGER DEPUTY BUREAU CHIEF

Washington, D.C. – Nese Guendelsberger has been named Deputy Chief of the FCC’s International Bureau, Bureau Chief Mindel De La Torre announced today. Prior to joining the International Bureau, Ms. Guendelsberger served as the Chief of the Spectrum and Competition Policy Division in the Wireless Telecommunications Bureau. She also worked in the Wireline Competition Bureau, in the Wireless Bureau’s former Auctions and Industry Analysis Division, and in the International Bureau.

Said Ms. De La Torre, “Nese’s substantive expertise on spectrum issues coupled with her knowledge of international legal and policy frameworks will be of immense benefit in advancing the Commission’s international priorities, particularly as we prepare for a World Radiocommunications Conference next year. She started her FCC career here in the International Bureau and I’m delighted to welcome her back.”

In her new position, Ms. Guendelsberger will spearhead the International Bureau’s numerous bilateral, regional, and multilateral initiatives. She will also oversee mergers and transactions coming before the International Bureau.

Prior to joining the FCC in 2000, Ms. Guendelsberger taught law at the University of Baltimore and the University of Ankara and was a consultant on international law matters. Ms. Guendelsberger has law degrees from the University of Paris I (Pantheon-Sorbonne) and the University of Ankara, as well as an LL.M. from the University of Michigan.
