

TECHNOLOGICAL ADVISORY COUNCIL CHARTER

1. The Committee's Official Designation

The official designation of this federal advisory committee is the Technological Advisory Council (TAC).

2. Authority

The TAC is hereby renewed at the direction of the Chairman of the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) and in accordance with the provisions of the Federal Advisory Committee Act as amended, 5 U.S.C. App 2.

3. Committee Objectives and Scope of Activities

Rapid advances in technology have resulted in innovations in how telecommunications services are provided to, and are accessed by, users of those services. Many of these advances are increasing the rate of convergence among categories of services that have traditionally been viewed as distinct, such as cable television services, telephony, data services, and internet services. Regulations must be examined in light of these technology advances, and the FCC must remain abreast of new developments in technology so that it can effectively fulfill its responsibilities under the Communications Act.

The purpose of the TAC is to provide technical advice to the Federal Communications Commission and to make recommendations on the issues and questions presented to it by the FCC. The TAC will focus on key issues affecting the deployment of new broadband technologies and services seeking to spur opportunities for innovation, greater efficiencies, and job creation. The TAC will address questions referred to it through the TAC Designated Federal Officer by the FCC Chairman, the Chief of the FCC Office of Engineering and Technology, or the FCC Chief Technology Officer. The questions referred to the TAC will be directed to technological and technical issues in the field of communications.

4. Description of the Duties for Which the Committee is Responsible

The duty of the TAC is advisory only. In response to the questions referred to it, the TAC will gather data and information, perform analyses, and prepare reports and presentations that provide advice and recommendations to the Commission.
