

In creating better TV, after years in media, I believe it is time to eliminate local over the air broadcast TV of all kinds, new and proposed as well as old. Take all resources and regulation and redirect them to WEB to make sure free public access and quality is defended in this venue. Broadcast is past and a waste of future investment. The whole population wants to see what it wants when it wants and that can only happen through Web or Cable. The poor need to be included in this and protection is needed. How I leave up to you. Free Web access is already advertising driven as was broadcast TV. There will be a transition period, but the end needs to be announced. Digital over the air TV should be dead and moved to other transmission systems. The airwaves should be resold for cellular video use. The broadcast industry will continue to exist over the Web but it will not make continuing sense over the airwaves.
