Bob,

Happy New Year. I hope you got some well-deserved time off. I did my best to leave you alone.

Can you give me any guidance re who on staff will be handling the LightSquared written showing re its capability to provide priority and preemptive access? We're getting ready to file.

Thanks.

Bruce

Attached is a slide deck from the Save GPS Coalition billed as a members update, but filled with distortions.

And rounding out this week's outrages, attached is a bill that LightSquared received from Garmin. Alone among the manufacturers participating in the Working Group's testing, Garmin is charging LightSquared over $16K for devices to test. I guess they have to fund the Save Our GPS Coalition somehow.

The GPS PR/political machine is in full swing. The e-mail below was sent from the PR/lobbying firm that has put together the Save GPS Coalition to an AP reporter. All the background material is attached, except for the testimony. The most interesting item is what I highlighted regarding an Approps Committee hearing this Friday.

We don't have all the details about the hearing and are trying to get more. It seems to be a fairly open hearing intended to cover the 2012 budget as it pertains to anything under Commerce, Justice, Science Subcomm. jurisdiction. It will primarily be a member listening session, but we can't rule out GPS planted questions being asked by members. Testimony will be provided on the website either shortly before or after the hearing. They do not currently have a list of witnesses as of yet.

Will FCC appear?

Joelle,

As you know, there is a brewing controversy before the FCC (LightSquared) with the potential for massive interference with GPS across a span of industries – aviation, agriculture, manufacturing, first responders etc. It isn't just the private sector expressing serious concerns, the Air Force and other governmental entities have spoken out as well.

Trimble Navigation is a founding member of a coalition of trade associations and companies that will formally launch on Thursday. On Friday, a senior executive of Trimble will testify on this matter before the Commerce,

5/19/2012

Justice, Science Subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee. I have attached a draft of his testimony because I thought it might provide useful background.

If you would be interesting in meeting with Jim Kirkland of Trimble please let me know. He will be in Washington and has some time on Wed afternoon and some again on Thursday.

Elizabeth,

Attached is background information and some of the media coverage the issue has received.

Current members of the coalition include NAM, Air Transport Association, Assn. of Equipment Manufacturers, Assn. of State Highway and Transportation Officials, Case New Holland, American Rental Assn., Farm Equipment Manufacturers, US GPS Industry Council, Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association, Trimble Navigation, Garmin...

Joining shortly will be ITS America, John Deere, Caterpillar, Farm Bureau, Corn Growers Assn., and there are probably another 20 companies and trade associations just running the traps internally to get signoff.

When we launch next Wed. or Thursday we expect to have a significant number of other organizations.

Please call if you have questions or if a more technical briefing (other than the AEM Briefing PowerPoint) would be helpful.

Regards

Ron, et al: I had a meeting with Anne Swanson and Media General this afternoon, Afterwards she asked if she could have conference call with me tomorrow to discuss the results of some testing her client Garmin had done on GPS receivers and projected interference from GPS. I'm going to be at the Lab tomorrow and told her I had a window for a conference call at 9:30.

Sorry for the short notice, but could you (the GPS technical working group) participate on this call? Perhaps all of you can gather in the OET conference room 7-C240 at 9:30 tomorrow morning. I'll dial the bridge from the Lab.

Ron, if there are others I've missed please invite them.

Rick, Some federal agencies are raising concerns about participating in this FACA for the Lightsquared waiver and efforts to address GPS interference. They are questioning the contention that the waiver didn't specifically address FACA.

Please advise, thanks.

Hey Rob,

I can imagine it is pretty hectic. I'd be surprised if the FCC wanted to comment on this, but wanted to make sure I asked. For instance: What are the legal considerations of determining if a group falls within the Federal Advisory Committee Act (FACA)? Are there concerns that FACA requirements could delay the efforts of the LightSquared working group?

Thanks,

Penny,

LightSquared would like to request a meeting with the International Bureau next week to discuss DA 10-534, which granted LightSquared various waivers of ATC technical rules in light of the Cooperation Agreement with Inmarsat. As I mentioned to Bob, an issue regarding the extent of the waiver of 25.253(b) has arisen with OET in the context of our equipment certification efforts.

I'm attaching two documents that may be relevant to the meeting. The PDF is OET's draft summary of technical requirements applicable to ATC base stations for equipment certification, which includes a discussion of OOCE/OOBE limits. The Excel document is our summary of the relevant OOCE/OOBE limits.

Our preferred days for a meeting are Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday.

Feel free to call me if you have any questions. Thanks.

Tony

Tammy,

We're working on a final script of our piece on Falcone. I'm wondering if Lisa and I could get a formal statement from the FCC addressing these three questions:

1. Were there any discussions between the White House and the FCC regarding LightSquared and Phil Falcone?
2. What can you say about the allegations that Falcone received a "sweet deal" from the FCC in getting things passed quickly?
3. Sen. Grassley is known for his Oversight work, if there is nothing to hide, why won't the FCC provide documents to him?

Thanks,

On behalf of all the employees of LightSquared, thank you, sincerely, for your professional and thoughtful consideration of our application. We realize the waiver grant is conditioned on us living up to the commitments of our application and on resolving the process outlined in the order, and every one of us here are committed to doing so.

Best regards to you and all the staff in the International Bureau.
