

To the Commissioners,

You must not allow a company or corporation to determine what constitutes acceptable speech and expression. I thought this was a joke until I read Roadrunner's "Acceptable Use Policy" and it clearly states, "Do not cross-post a single article to more than 5 for sale, test, jobs, or binary groups." If I'm looking for job, I can't post more than 5 applications or resumes?!? If I'm trying to sell something, they are going to tell me how many "Recycler" or classified type sites I can post to?!?

Also, If I want to tell everyone I know (in my e-mail address book) that I think this is completely wrong, and that they should write to you as well, my account would be "subject to suspension or termination."

The day petitioning my friends to take up arms for a worthy cause, such as protecting our Constitutional Rights, gets me kicked off the public domain of the Internet, is a good day for Communism.

Don't let this happen! Ladies and Gentlemen, there is no way to outlaw ONLY bad speech; so you must insure that NO SPEECH IS OUTLAWED.

Thank you very much for your time and attention.

Sincerest Regards,

Jim Benon
