

The AOL - Time Warner merger proposes to limit high speed access to users based on volume of data or content. This restriction of free speech is unacceptable, and the FCC has a clear duty to forbid it.