

I was on AOL as a new user of the internet for 3 years and at 56 years old never dreamed that I would be "kicked off" for censorship reasons. They advised me that my account was closed and that I had no appeal and they would not allow me the courtesy of knowing who accuser was only that it was for a TOS violations. This is totally unjust in my estimation and should have never occurred!