

It would seem that offering services is profitable, actually delivering them is not.