

It seems to me that this is the largest entertainment merger in history. I cannot believe after going after Microsoft the government could approve this merger. Netscape-AOL-Warner Bros-Time RoadRunner Cable.... If this is not dangerous what is? You have the largest ISP, The second most used browser, One of the largest cable operators, Warner Brothers Entertainment and Time.... I hate to think of the damage to the consumer in the form of price fixing that this will cause. Shame on the FCC....
