To whom it may concern:

Time Warner's actions today make it clear that they must be stopped. It is maddening that they have taken ABC off the air in several major markets. I have access to ABC only because Time Warner unilaterally traded my account to MediaOne a few months back. But looking to the future, who knows when they'll decide to swap customers once again.

More importantly than access to Sharma and Greg, though, is my status as a Disney stockholder. The cable company's actions could very realistically have a detrimental affect on the value of my stock. Money is not everything, by any stretch, but in this situation, with a predatory monopoly acting against the best interests of its customers, it becomes the only thing.

Again, I beg of you to stop them. Think of what they can do once they have control over all access to home-consumer high-speed internet content.

Thank you very much for your time and consideration in this matter. I will look forward to receiving a response from you soon.

Sincerely,

Tara C. Woods
