

I am a current satellite TV subscriber who would like to support the pending merger of Echostar and DIRECTTV. The combination of these two satellite providers would provide numerous benefits to consumers like us, including more new channels, programming, and new technologies. We cannot receive signals at our home with sufficient strength to give us adequate pictures. Also, our waiver-request letters are not answered by the local ABC, CBS, and FOX station managers. By merging, the combined companies can offer all local channels to every market in the U.S. We will be able to access local news, weather, and our favorite programs. We have been trying to get adequate pictures for several years. We urge you to lend your support to the merger.
