

We recently sent you a letter supporting the Echostar/Hughes merger. At that time we did not realize that we were supporting an effort to completely monopolize the satellite industry just so that we could watch our local networks.

With that in mind please take note that we are NO LONGER in support of this merger. Dish network has done a very good job of slanting the facts in their favor and promoting their own slick version of reality.

We are so disgusted with them that have dropped them and changed to DirectTV. Hopefully the merger will not go through and we won't have to deal with them anymore.
