

As a former customer of the Dish Network I want to express my support for the merger of the two satellite companies. I left Dish for Cable. Cable is their real competition. Current regulations prevent Dish from providing all North Carolina customers with North Carolina stations. I live in Mebane (Allamance County) and I left dish for cable where I now receive Raleigh stations that Dish could not sell me. Programming is the key factor in everyones choice of these service providers. I think the government should just stay out of this. If Congress feels an overwhelming need for TV legislation pass one that gives everyone access to all programming or just be honest and pass a bill giving all rights to all programs to whoever contributes the most to your re-election campaigns.
