

If the quality of SAT TV would improve with this proposed merger, then I would be in favor of this monopolization of this service. Dishnet by itself sucks. I was a subscriber to Directv and had nothing but praise for their trouble free reception, ease of use tactile response, better GUI, quick menu activation, but still hated subsidizing the 20 plus channels of junk in order to view the 10 or so channels with substance.

Respectfully yours,

Keith