

I have been a dealer for both DirectTv and DISH network for several years. I believe that because there was meaningful competition between the two companies that rates have been kept reasonable and dealers have been treated fairly. In rural America where cable is not available, I believe with only one satellite provider that rates would rise and customers and dealers alike would no longer be treated fairly, Therefore I am opposed to the merger of DirectTv and DISH Network.