

To the Honorable Anne Northup,

As a current subscriber to Insight cable in Louisville, I completely support the merger of DishNetwork and DirectTV. I believe the merged company will be the only true competition to our local cable monopoly, and will be able to offer superior services at a lower price to every household in our area. I have gone with digital cable recently, but now see how overpriced and underperforming it truly is.

Please assist these two companies to become the beneficial market force they can be, and don't allow the cable monopolies to distort the fact that satellite programming is actually a direct competitor to cable, and not a separate enterprise with a separate market.
