

Dear Sirs: I am a small businessman who owns a small satellite shop in the mountains of North Carolina. When i hear that there will be problems merging echostar and directv i just cannot beleive it. you'll allow one cable company per area, regardless of their track records or customer complaints, but you're making satellite play by different rules. if you would like to come to my shop for one week and listen to the number of complaints we hear from people i think you'd understand what i mean. if there has to be two satellite companys per area, lets have two cable companies,too. Lets give citizens (voters) a real choice. That would be a democracy, am i correct. Thank you.
