

I have been a supporter of yours in the past. Your views state that you are standing up for the common man. That's me. I love Dish network and the service I receive. But I do not think the merger is in the interest of the consumer. One reason why Dish network is so good is because it must differentiate itself from DirectTV, it's current competitor. This merger will give Dish a monopoly on the satellite market. Dish claims it will give more choices to consumers and cable is the real competitor. However, for me and yourself, my current choices are the cable company in my back yard, Direct TV and Dish. With the merger I will be left with one choice cable or satellite.

If you truly represent the people than you will stop this merger. The sale of Direct TV to another competitor is in better interest to all than this merger.
