

I support the merger between Direct TV and Echostar because it would give the cable tv industry the competition they need. My cable rates have risen year after year higher than the cost of inflation and the service I receive is poor. Give us a level playground to choose between at least two providers that includes high speed internet access for the entire country. Cable Tv needs a wake up and some REAL competition NOW!

Kevin Kelley