Dear Chairman Powell:

I want to address the 'local' restrictions on satellite tv programming. I am referring to the inability to receive distant locals. Me and my wife are from different areas than where we now live. We can only receive Indianapolis stations, not NY or LA, why is this? If the playing field was like this all over you would not be able to buy the NY Times in Los Angeles due to the local newspaper wanting to sell his local stories not other peoples. I welcome your reply and I will expound on the items I briefly mentioned with more detail.

Sincerely,

Keith Hancock
