

I generally support the Directv/Echostar merger. It will allow more programming, particularly HDTV. However, there should be protection against price increases. The prices are likely to rise when there are only two choices. There should be a cap on price increases on both cable and echostar. Price increses should not be more than normal inflation.