

I find it very difficult to beleive there would be elected government officials in this great nation we live who would not want the american public to have the right to choose what type of television broadcast to receive. I live in rural america, 70 miles away from my local procastors. The reception from them into my area is very poor. We live in the Missouri Ozarks and it is very hilly country and there for reception to our local TV stations is poor. We have cable available in some of the area but not all the area. there are many many homes who can not get cable.

My request to you is support the merger of DircTV and Dish Network. I want to have the choice to choose and not have the government choose who can provide me service. Please show your support for rural America. We live in a great nation, make it even better
