

The merger will be good for America!

Why is there so little competition for cable and two satellite companies that provide higher quality for a lower price can't get an even shake? Is it because the cable companies are filling your pockets with cash?