

The Honorable Michael K. Powell
Chairman
Federal Communications Commission

Dear Chairman Powell:

I strongly thing DirectTV and Dish Network should merge. For one they are the two major satelite providers in the United States, when people talk about satelite television they are usually reffering to eithere one. Also since they are the only compeditors they should merge to become the 'RULER' OF SATELITE TELEVISION. Also they should pick and change as in DirectTV has very good menues and features and is compatible with more things (ultimate Tv, TiVo etc..) On the other hand Dish Network have many very good channels and have good plans. I hope this helps

Sincerely,
