

Anything that gives me more real choices such as alternatives to broadband access and price protection no matter where I go....I am all for. A merger of satellite services makes a very strong alliance to compete in the cable dominated entertainment world. This merger will help protect low prices and keep the cable/entertainment giants somewhat honest.