

Since Dish claims to compete with Cable then I feel they should be required to eliminate or drastically reduce the additional receiver fee they currently impose. Cable, at least in my area, does not charge additional outlet fees so why should Dish charge for additional receivers?