

I find cable tv prices to be too high. If this merger occurs, it would seem to lessen the little competition that currently exists so I hope that it will not be permitted. I find that I have to pay for many channels I don't want to get the few that I do want and the generally prices are too high. I think Dish network the best of cable, Direct TV and Dish.