

Dear Sir -- I would like you to know that I and my wife as XO stockholders will appreciate any efforts made by the FCC to bring about a fair resolution to the XO Communications situation. The financial reorganization proposed clearly is an attempt to swindle existing stockholders out of their share of the company for the benefit of management and others. All parties understand that these are difficult times, but unfortunately there are those who are using this as an opportunity to unjustly enrich themselves. Any financial reorganization needs to preserve the ownership rights of the stockholders in a new reorganized XO Communications.

Thank you.

Michael Gould
