Dear Commissioner: I personally own 27,000 shares of XOXO which represents a significant portion of my retirement funds.

In addition to the Enron, Global Crossings, and Williams Communications rip-offs, we have another problem similar in nature which is in process, namely, XO Communications. Mr. Theodore Forstmann and his fellow cohorts are attempting another grand theft.

The purpose of this letter is to bring it to your attention and to advise all concerned to pay some attention to this theft in- progress. Although a lead-counsel has been assigned in a pending class-action suit, we will be watching how our regulators and representatives handle this problem.

Misrepresentation, patronizing, collusion, insider trading violations, securities laws violations, and outright fraud are becoming all too commonplace to those holding positions of authority in high places. Additional shame and embarrassment are headed our way.

Please consider using your good judgment in this matter.

Respectfully submitted,
W. Keith Thorpe, MD
